

ZERO WASTE SWITZERLAND

The days are getting shorter...

...and cooler. It's getting foggier and the leaves are falling. The evenings are becoming cosier – maybe you have a fire going, or perhaps you're nestled on the sofa with a good book. Maybe your thoughts are also turning towards ideas for Christmas. We've been putting some thought into it as well, and are looking forward to sharing some tips with you.

With your donation you participate in the realization of our projects.
Thank you very much!

Zero Waste for Christmas?

"No presents this year!" With this radical solution, we could easily avoid the two problems of vast amounts of packaging material and wrapping paper, and the headache of trying to decide what to give to whom.

We've done some research and identified some gift ideas to make your loved ones happy without creating waste. How about giving your time as a gift? How about a joint activity? Perhaps climbing together? Who doesn't like a cinema voucher or an invitation to an exhibition? How about spending some time together at the spa? It's relaxing, meaningful, and unforgettable!

We've gathered together a few more ideas here<<. We wish you a lot of joy as you look forward to Christmas and an Advent season filled with contemplation!

Spotted...

At Casino Bern, snacks are being served in jam jars! If you can't finish your snack during the break, you can just pop the lid back on and take it home with you!

Our new collective members

Welcome!

At the CrossFitness club – CrossFit975 in Cressier (NE), members' health is important, as well as that of the planet. In addition to having set up an efficient waste sorting system, the club uses reusable stainless steel straws, and washable cutlery, plates and glasses at their events, collected from the CrossFit975 community.

Lilli Krakenberger – founder of the Atelier Engelregenbogen, costume designer, tailor and sewer, in addition to offering "moonlight woven" linen bags, which are not just beautiful but durable as well, offers custom-made accompaniments.

Facebook Posts

Does this sound familiar? In your Facebook newsfeed, there are countless posts that you have no interest in whatsoever. Do you often wonder where this flood of data is coming from? If that's the case, the function "Prioritise who to see first" can help. This feature ensures that posts from friends or pages that really interest you are displayed at the top of your newsfeed. It's easy to activate: After logging into Facebook, click on the down arrow at the top of the blue menu bar and select the option "News Feed preferences". All friends, pages and groups currently marked with "Like" will appear in the opened window. Decide which friends, pages and groups you want to see first in your feed.
